SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION urging the governor to direct state agencies to review all of the current lake management and lake protection programs and responsibilities, for the purpose of consolidating programs, projects, and personnel into one identifiable lake management unit within an existing agency of government.

Whereas, in the late 1940's, the General Assembly determined that the state's public freshwater lakes were important natural resources to be preserved, protected, and enjoyed by the public and to be held in trust by the state;

Whereas, at that time, the department of conservation (the forerunner of the department of natural resources) assumed the responsibility of protecting and managing Indiana's public freshwater lakes;

Whereas, in ensuing years, the General Assembly enacted numerous lake-related laws, and state agencies such as the state board of health and the department of environmental management adopted numerous lake-related administrative rules or otherwise intervened in lake-related issues;

Whereas, additionally, federal agencies, including the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, became involved to varying degrees in lake-related matters;

Whereas, to further complicate this matter, currently there are many separate divisions within the department of natural resources that are involved in some phase of lake management or protection, including the divisions of fish and wildlife, law enforcement, soil conservation, state parks and reservoirs, and water;

Whereas, as a result of changes since the late 1940's and pressure on lake resources, lake management in Indiana has evolved into a complex and relatively uncoordinated array of responsible entities and programs, the resources have suffered, and the public is thoroughly confused about the correct agency to contact for important information and advice; and

Whereas, calls to contact appropriate government officers about lake-related matters are frequently answered by staff persons who do not know to whom the calls should be directed, either because the caller has not provided sufficient information or because the staff person lacks the training to transfer phone calls, or because the information provided to the staff person is outdated or insufficient. Therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, the House of Representatives concurring:

1       SECTION 1. That the governor is urged to immediately issue an
2       executive order or other appropriate directive instructing the
3       appropriate state agencies to review thoroughly all the various lake
4       management and lake protection programs and responsibilities, with 5       the intent of consolidating programs, projects, and personnel, where 6       appropriate, into one identifiable lake management unit within an
7       existing agency of government.

8       SECTION 2. That the governor is urged to invite a reasonable
9       number of concerned citizens to participate in the review undertaken
10      in response to the governor's order or directive.
